A Message From Our President

It is with much anticipation and enthusiasm that I welcome you to the first Concentric Corporation newsletter!

It is a very exciting time to be living and working in this ever-changing world of technology. Printed letters have turned into e-mails, e-mails have become blogs, texts, and tweets and phone calls have been overtaken by online invitations to connect. But the one thing that should stand the test of time is our relationship and commitment to our valued customers. That is why we have decided to begin this newsletter.

This monthly message will provide you with information about events happening within Concentric Corporation, new trends and tips in staffing and consulting, exciting news in technology and more. We hope that you will enjoy, and gain value from, our newsletter and we hope that you chime in on what we think to be fun, relevant and relatable.

Windows 7 Appears To Be A Success!

On October 22, 2009 Windows 7 was released to the general public. This release was greatly anticipated as its predecessor (Windows Vista) met with much negative press and user complaints. This albatross around Vista's neck prompted many users to stay with Windows XP rather than upgrade. In fact many manufacturers issued immediate XP downgrade options for new equipment.

When Microsoft began development on a post Vista product they were very aggressive in incorporating user feedback from previous operating systems to make the new version easier and faster.

Early reviews of Windows 7 have been positive for the most part. It maintains the glossy user interface of Vista but has a smaller footprint when running.

The driver database for Windows 7 is impressive. With previous versions of Windows (and with all operating systems) device drivers are usually not provided for all system devices. We did not find this to be that case with Windows 7. Base installations found drivers for most if not all of the associated devices for the systems that we tested installations with.

Concentric Corporation sponsors Annual “Kids & Clays” Event

Concentric Corporation was a Gold Sponsor for the 7th Annual Ronald McDonald House Sporting Clays Tournament held October 10th & 11th 2009 at the Oak Creek Sporting Club in Brainard, NE.

We had three teams participate in the 100-clay shot tournament, comprised of Concentric Corporation employees and our clients. Participants from our teams won a variety of prizes including cases of shotgun shells, shooting bags, hunting equipment and even a brand new Charles Daly shotgun!!!

This event is a fund raiser for the Ronald McDonald House of Omaha, and Concentric Corporation has been attending the event for the last four years.

The mission of Ronald McDonald House Charities in Omaha is to help families in need. The organization provides for families that bring their sick children to our community for medical care, provides dental care to kids who might otherwise go without and supports organizations that focus on improving children’s lives.

The Ronald McDonald House is one of several charities in the Omaha area that Concentric Corporation is proud to support and we look forward to attending the event again next year!!

Concentric Now Offering Expanded Services

For the past 6 years Concentric Corporation has provided staffing and consulting services to their clients in the information technology field. For the last 6 months Concentric Corporation has initiated the same service offering but has expanded into other industries. We are proud to offer our clients the same quality they are used to receiving from us, now in the fields of Executive Management, Human Resources, Customer Service Representatives, and Financial Planners. Our focus remains the same in each service we offer: increased retention and fit in tangible skills and environmental match.

“Companies need professionals that bring more than just a number of years experience.”, Melissa Adams, Division Director of Concentric said. “Now, more than ever before, companies need professionals that not only have the concrete skills they require but the ability to transform themselves and adapt to a changing economy.” With national unemployment numbers where they are at, you might think that employers would shy away from using staffing firms, that is not the case says Adams, “At the beginning of the Summer you saw some companies take the ‘wait and see’ approach. They would place an ad out on the internet or job boards or in the paper hoping they would attract the right professional. A lot of those positions are still open, for various reasons, but we are seeing an increased demand from employers to find them those professionals that not only fit the job requirements but also fit within the personality of the company. And someone that can bring several dimensions to a company, not just a single focus.” Simply put, Concentric’s edge is attracting professionals that their clients cannot attract on their own. “This is another advantage of working with us” said Adams.

What our clients have to say about us

From the very beginning, they focused on our needs and requirements and worked with us to identify the best and most appropriate technology for our business. Concentric continues to do their very best to assist us daily...

Concentric illustrates a high level of awareness to our overall business and technology needs and is very proactive in their approach to ensuring the best solutions to meet those needs.

...it is very refreshing to be working with a company that is professional, highly knowledgeable, very skilled and friendly.

...One of their biggest attributes, is the fact that they not only understand our technical needs, they “get” our cultural needs too. I am absolutely confident that the candidates they submit have been thoroughly qualified and my time as a manager will not be wasted in scheduling interviews... They out perform their competitors... They are fast, dependable and service driven.

Over the past year, Concentric Corporation has worked successfully with our company to locate and provide some of the areas best technology professionals. Their dedication, professionalism, and customer service have led to excellent results. They are now considered a preferred technology staffing partner within our organization.
